PLANTAIN TREE PEST.

We have received several letter during the last few days regarding the plantain tree pest, to which we drew attention some time ago in these columns. It is stated that the pest is spreading in all directions, and that now there are a very trees in and around Colombo that have not been affected with the disease. Fruits are scare and the price has risea so high that plantains are now out of the reach of many people. The disease attacks the plant at all ages and once a tree is attacked, it is absolutely useless. A reporter of this paper impeged some trees that were affected by the discuse near the Arcade premises in the Fort and saw for himself that the trees were mails mades. Trees in all parts of Coand are being but down by their White by by this treatment does while spread of the Mo news has been received from the villages outlying Colombowhere most of the fruit sold in the town domes from as to whether the disease has spread to these parts or not, but from the daily diminishing stock that is brought into the markets in town, it would seem that the villagery are also experiencing the same as the town brethren. It believes the Department of Agriculture so look into the matter at once, else most assuredly will all the plantain, trees in the Island have to be cut down during the next few months. (Ceylonese.)

THE FUTURE OF THE PHILIP-

PINES.

The following special telegram appears in the Manila Cablenews-American :-As a "consequence of a long conference between President Wilson and Socretary of War Garrison there is a great, prohability that the political future of the Philippine Islands will be very different from what has been anticipated by many politicians seeking high offices in an independent republic. Secretary Garrison has declared himself strongly in favour of a modified self-government to be established on the lines of the government granted by Great Britain to what is known as the self-governing colonies, in which the home government has no control over the public officers, though the Crown appoints the Governor-General and retaine a veto on all legislation. In the event of the adoption of Secretary Garrison's scheme of government for the Philippines there will be established an autonoprous government, but the United States flag will continue-to fly and the destinies of the people would be in the hands of the President of the United States, acting through his representative, the Governor-General.

One of the finest examples of Loman genius in France, the aqueduct over the valley of the River Gard, near Nimes, is threatened with ruin by a grasping

M. Calderon, having purchased the estate immediately adjoining the "Pont du Gard," directons to blow up part of the foundations with dynamite if the States dors not consent to purchase some seven norce of stony ground encompassing it for the price of 41,840. The State offered less than £800.

All lovers of beb are horrified at the tirestoned sot of vandalism, but the anticritics do not sepress to know what se do in order to prevent it.

THE BISHOP OF LONDON ON IMMORAL PLAYS.

The Bishop of London, speaking at a meeting of men at Mile end recently said that some of the plays which had been produced, and some of the books which had been written, had exalted sexual impulse out of all proportion. The public opinion o men when they med was still rotten on this question. It was better than it had been and one result of the improvement was the passing of the White Blave Traffic Bill: The battle they were fighting would never be won until men had got the pluck There were still hundreds of girls going down into degradation, and until men rose with what he called the shepherd justicet. they would mover he able to crush out that great ovil. WILD MEN OF BORNEO.

Those who have been suddened by the disgrepancies between circus bill-board advertising and what they have actually seen in side-shows may learn from Daniel Denison Streeter, field "agent of the United States Biological Survey, that there are really and truly some wild men of Borneo. Mr. streeter knows, because he has been all the way across the island and several times felt the sensation of being so near death ut their hands that only a superstition for two saved him. The biologist visited and mingled with people whose chief amusement is collecting the heads of mempers of rival tribes." Ho observed female fashions that were a good deal more striking than abose he was necustomed to seeing in this country. Some of the Blackness, we suddenly saw an opening Mr E. S. Abraham Mr W. B. Knapp Women he shw in the jungles were willing to suffer far more physical discomfort for the sake of personal appearmices than the women of civilized countries; they underwent torture every few days for ten years in order to look just. right. Mr. Streeter left his home in Brooklyn in April, 1912, for Africa and the Far East in search of specimens of rare beasts and reptiles. Failing to find what he wanted in Africa, the Malay Peninsula, or Sumatra, he went to Borneo. He experienced many thrills 8.50 p.m and 9 p.m., 9.30 p.m. to 11.00 during the journey, and tells about some of them in an interview with a Brookwe quote:

proceeded across the buy to the mouth of the Rejanj River, along which I continue ed for about ninety miles to the island of Sibu, where I met the only American was to find during my entire travel acrous Borneo. Ho was a former missioner, who had given up hope of converting the indifferent natives, and was conducting a prosperous rice-growing plantation, having imported about 4,000 Chinese for the purpose. Proceeding eighty miles farther, I reached Kapit, where I obtained cances and engaged thirteen natives as guides for my trip into the interior. They represented three different tribes and comprised one Punan, who was a tree-dweller and headhunter; two Kayans, and the rest Lanuns. For two months, assistance gave the band what would in American money aggregate $15, and of all the natives who aided me in my Borneo travel they were the only ones that asked compensation. They were typical of the Borneo tribesmen, about five feet tall, good looking, with straight black bair proving themselves brave warriors

THROUGH THE JUNGLE.

The women, strange to say, were far more homely than the men and I saw entire trip across Borneo. She was the wife of a Kayan raja, and he, with they little concern. deference that my strange appearance excited, effered her to me as a present. As we proceeded to penetrate farther into the jurgle, where no white man had ever passed, it was necessary to send the natives phead with their peculiar knifelike blades, and to hew down th heavy underbrush and soft but thickl growing trees, for in such surroundings, where it was impossible to see a feet on either side, it would have been obviously junpossible to have made any advance. It was by cutting down the trees, too, that the reptiles and animals, frightened at this first intrusion into their dense woodland domain, would dart across the cleared area, and thus make possible their capture.

For weeks we continued thus, and shall never forget, as we approached the heart of the interior, the sensution that was mine when through a jungle Mr J. E. Ainsworth Pr & Mrs J. Kransahead, and came upon one of the strang-Mr W. Anderson . est of strange villages, to be found only Mr & Mrs F. D. Miss Krauskoph in such a land as Borneo.

The first object to meet the eye was a Mr A. T. Barberini long grotesque looking house, built of Mr & Mrs C. Barons- Mr and Mrs Lay wood on piles about fifteen feet off the ground, an elevation necessary, as I Mrs Bar asf-ather, Mr and Mrs J. C. afterwards learned, not only to lessen the Mr H' Brian Bates Miss G. Letz danger from floods but also to prevent | Mr E W. Bruckham Mr E S. Little he atacks of wild animals, such as | Capt. J. B. Beardsley Mr G. T. Lloyd elephants and rhinoceroses, reptiles, and Mr J. O. Petr the sudden invasion by rival tribes of head-hunters. Each village contains one Mr D. Dair house, and each house shelters from betwenty to three hundred brown-skinned lyn Eagle reporter, from whose article hatives. Throughout the length of the long house is a narrow hallway with My landing-place was Kuching, but I | crudely constructed doors leading to the various rooms. Each family occupies Mr A. J. Cambridge Manville one room. Occasionally one will find a larger village having three such houses, which may contain as many as a thousand natives, but these are rare. .- A nole, in which notches had been cut, | Master D'Almada E. Mrs R. T. Matheson served as a ladder, reaching to house. The supporting beams and the the main doors were magnificently carved, showing that even with their roughlymade blades these animal-like hatives, who had never known the influence of civilization, were master artizans. As we approached the house the notives come, swarming out in numbers, and while they paid little or no attention to my browniskinned escorts, they gazed at me in utter wonderment. As to whether the natives or myself had the greater misgivings I am mable to say. My sensations were indescribable. Here I was, in the heart of Borneo, surrounded by a horde of strange, brown-skinned men, leading animal-like existences, and whose chief diversion seemed to and with remarkable muscular develop- chopping off the heads of rival tribesmen and passing them down to posterity Mr A A. Fyfe as trophies of their valor. I knew that Mr A Gallo'ti they had never seen a man of white skin Mr H. Garrow before, and whether they would make a sudden dash to claim the honor of my head was a matter that gave me some.

Mr & Mrs J. Gould Mrs Rutherford ANXIOUS MOMENTS. Mr J. Gourgey Soon I was being examined from head Mr A. Greilmunmer Mr C. L. Seitz to foot by the entire band. They ran Mr P. O. de Griso- Mr W. Shaw" their fingers through my hair, for it light and somowhat wavy, while meirs Mr and Mrs W. A. Smith was straight and black; they seemed to Mr J. Scott Harston Miss A. Square take particular delight in feeling of "the on. Mr E. A. Mr. & Mis Stransz white skin of my face, and could not believe it was real. They felt ars and nose, my arms, hands Mr J. G. Hable fingers, my legs, and even my shoes, Mrs H. P. Hook the significance of which was beyond Mr B. Horne: Mr J. W. Jay

For a moment a consultation was held among themselves, and somehow I felt my fato lay in the balance. Then, with Mr M. Kis and their tribal incantations, they began Mr W. Kein avishing upon me presents of many kinds-rice, fruit, and even chickens, which are both scrawny and rare, their ase being reserved for strictly ceremonial occasions. Then I learned that was a god who had come into their midst on the propitious mission of dulged in only on extraordinary occasions sick; that, at least, was the conclusion of the natives, and as the verdict was comewhat better than that of decapita Mr W. A. Donaldson Mody. tion, I accepted it gladly and entered Mrs & Miss Erwin , Dr O. Muller upon my duties and dignity as a divinity. As a libation fitting to what they considered a sacred personage, the savages Mr.P.C. Hall brewed a special liquor made of rice Mr H. O. Haynor and called "arrak." This drink is in Miss B. Ho A. Hing Passmore dulged in only extraordinary occasions. Mr. Streeter found the concoction sweet, thick, and colourless, with a flavour Mr A. E. Keen comewhat like "Benedictine," and not Mr and Mr. W. D. Dr Sibros over-intexicating. He gave them little Kraft trinkets, which strongthened their belief Mr & Mrs C. Laurit- Mrs G. 2. Swa-t that he had supernatural powers. They carried their sick to him and begged him to heal them. To continue: (Continued on page 4.)

In the Bavarien village of Hieffau a workman named Gast fixed the house of his amployer, whose daughter jilbed him, Mr Coffmann and then stood at the door with a revolver threatening to shoot if she bried to escape. The girl escaped, but both her brothers were burnt to death.

(Continued from page S.) In my medicine-chiest I had a large quantity of quinine, alcohol, faver pills, and antiseptic solutions, and these found of invaluable worth. Loathsome disease, not unlike leprosy, was the scourge of the interior and three-fourthof the population, from children to age: people, were afflicted with it. Though a novice at medicine. I' treated as man as fifty natives a day, and over a thouand during my entire stay. Malariand kindred ailments, caused by mos quitoes, centipedes, and various insects, had caused much sickness among these natives, over 200 miles in the interior. and my medicines were constantly in demand. Quinino, despite its bitter flavour, the natives ate like candy. The 'white man's medicine,' they called it, and so great was their fondness for it that even the well would feign illnesto obtain it. Observing that I used alcohol without evidencing pain after being tattooed, they attributed it magic powers and begged that a little

Their religion seemed to be a vague one. I observed a few totem poles, but these were apparently offered for a propitious rice crop. For their dead the greatest respect is shown, and they speak of their departed reverentially, and in hushed tones. They care tenderly for their sick, and after death the remains are placed in coffins, handsomely carved and decorated, on the top of trees. MARRIAGE AND TATTOOING.

Marriage is a festive occasion, in which all join merrily. After a short trial union, if the contracting parties agree they go through a peculiar native rite, and the couple continue to live together, seemingly happy, until death. Loin elothes form the only article of wearingapparel used by the natives, who are, I believe, more modest and moral than many civilized people in metropolitan centres. Their time is consumed generally in raising rice or hunting. The wo- have a piston and appliance for catching men work with the men, take care of the air when blown from the seven-foot sir or nine months.

For all their wild surroundings, the resinous gum. natives are unusually keen and eager for learning: They like to talk and questions, and, though they have no written language, are anxious to learn of strange lands and people. They are fond of tattoo designs, which are made with India ink and tobacco juice. From this combination many die of blood poisoning. Special designs are arranged for the beck, the shoulders, the arms, its own emblems. While the men are tattooed at various places over the entire. body, the women are distinguished by strange-looking emblems extending from the waist to the knees. The entire process takes over ten years, and the pain suffered is intense.

To provide for further ornamentation, a child, on reaching the age of six months has the lobe of the ear punctured and stick inserted. More splinters of wood are gradually added, until at the age of two years a circular mass of splinters can be seen in the child's ear five inches in diameter, and having but a thin rim of firsh about it. A little cerring is then inserted, and larger ones gradually added wirth the child has reached the age of 13, when he has three or four PHILIPPINE ISLANDS: -A. The sting was accompanied by a persistent burning ensition, like than from a red hot iron. While not poisonous, an itching irritation develops that continues for months atterward. We found it very difficult wing to the jungle wilderness, to obtain he specimens we were after, but by shopping trees and clearing a path, I managed to get about 100 snakes, frogs, and lizards, and my persistency was subsequently rewarded by the finding, in their deep, isolated jung's lair, my much sought-after "clouded leopards."

WORCESTERSHIRE, SAUCE

My native escorts, who were shead of me, suddenly turned back in evident fear, and peering shead, I discovered rude, thatched Luts in the trees, but s short distance away, the homes of the forcest, yet most cowardly, savages of entire Borneo; and it was with much limeulty and coaring that I could prorail upon the natives to go forward. My presence caused much excitement among (the tree-dwellers, who peered down, with their skining black little eyes, but their wonderment soon gave way to curiosity, and they were soon subjecting me to an examination similar to that I had proviously received. My rifle was to them also a cause of much wonder. They treated me kindly, yet they were pal publy of a lower order, and more animalilic, than those of the village I had previously visited. They were somewhat smaller, wilder, and, from the rows of heads that were weirdly drying over ere much more savage than their rival tribesmen. Their entire jaws were tattooed with bideous dosigns.

THE DEADLY BLOWPIPE. Their main weapon of defence was the deadly "blowpipe," through which arrows, will poisoned tips, can be blown | Fowls, Canten, -Kai with dendly accuracy a hundred feet in a single second. The Dyaks also have long, narrow tilette-like blades, made from steel ore, and these are used generally in their attacks on rivals at night. Their desire for the heads of rivals is functionl. A Natural Remedy

Time was when disease was thought to be due to the direct influence of evil spirits, and exorcism and magic were invoked to cast it out.

Science has taught us wisdom. The evil spirits exist still. We call them "Disease" Germs." and they also must be cast out. Once lodged in the stomach or intestines, fever with its hallucinations, or biliousness with its aches and pains, is the result.

RUISA

is the approved remedy for driving out disease germs. Its action is quick and thorough. It clears the intestines, rouses the torpid liver to new life, stimulates the mucous membrane to a healthy action, and cleanses and invigorates the whole digestive tract.

It may be safely taken at any time by young

It is very effective in the early stage of Diarricea by removing the irritating cause.

Be prepared for emergencies by aiways keeping, a botile in the house.

Angier's Emulsion has been prescribed by the medical profession and used in the hospitals for the last twenty years and is now universally recognised as the standard approved remedy for coughs, broachitis, asthma, consumption and all forms of lung trouble. It is superior to other lung remedies because of its greater southing and healing powers, in combination with exceptional tonic and strengthening qualities. Angier's Emulsion is anothing alike to throat, lungs, stomach and intestines, and it has a most invigorating influence upon the general health. It is pleasant to take, agrees perfectly with delicate stomachs, and improves appetite and digestion.

The most valuable weapon in the fight Pelham House, Pelham Square, Brighton.

Dear Sira,—I have been suffering for several years from inherculbeis of the lungs and it is impossible for me to speak too highly of the extraordinary effect your preparation has had upon me during this terrible condition. It has not only checked the wasting decreased the rough and largened the ing, decreased the cough, and lessened the irritation of the tubes, but has greatly increased my digestive powers, so that I have been able to assimilate a greater amount of nourishment. I say distinctly (and the medical men who have been and are attendhig me hold the same opinion) that Angior's Emulsion is THE most valuable weapon in the fight against consumption. You may

COTTON REPORT.

Venture Trusts, Ltd.

Means. James F. Button and Co., Ltd., Manchester, in their weekly market report dated Nov. 20, state :- The state of the cloth market remains practically the same. business not shewing the impatiently awaited improvement. The price of cotton shews little difference from our last report although at the end of last week prices temporarily rose in New York owing to the census figures, shewing that American spinners' takings of cotton for October were an increase of 30,000 bales over the same mouth last year. The size of the crop is still a matter of uncertainty but the belief is certainly gaining ground that it will be somewhere shout Messrs. Neill

Bros. estimate of 13,800,000 bales. The ginning returns have now become an important factor in the determination of opinion and the n at report due to-morros expectations it means that spinners takings must be reduced by 20/30,000 bales per month or elso there will certainly be a scarcity before the and of the season and it is thus seen that the very considerable ricresse stated above above in the domestic consumption of the United States may well be a disturbing feature, for this increase is not merely spasmedic, up to last, week-end American spinners had absorbed 3,347,000 bales, against Refineries: - China Sugara have weakened 2,849,000 bales for same period consumption for that part of the world and it therefore seems that unless manufacturing output on the present scales has outstripped the demand, the present price of cotton is at least justified. Overses markets do not however show any appreciation of this point of view and it is not at all certain that production on its present scale has not overtaken demand in spite of the progressive and considerable increases in that demand during the last two or three years:

the evidence in support of this view are the present excessive stocks in many parts. of the world and also the drastic curtailment of buying. This reduced absorption of manufactures is now being shown by the irregularity of almost all sections of the market, and will find an excellent lesson close at development of milways throughout motiern Russia. Dealing with the matter of important projected lines

there "The Times" says that railway building in Russia proceeds at a pace which is relatively slower than that of 20 or 30 years ago, a circumstance that adversely influences the development of the country, especially in view of the fact that the actual extent of the Russian railway system is far behind the requirements of the Empire. In 1879 the total length of the rnilways was 20,731 versts (13,800 miles). Since then the growth of the railway system may be given in ten-year periods:-1889, 27,74;

versts (18,500 miles); 1899, 46,562

versts (31,000 miles); and 1909, decline was due to the war and to internal troubles, affecting this decade. During the three years ended 1913 the actual building of new railways has not averaged more than Agriculture during this period has been in a flourishing condition, thanks to several good harvests, and this circumstance led to a great extension of trade, both German mail. foreign and home, and consequently to increased traffic on the railways. The railways were compelled to extend their transport capacity to the utmost limits, and by this means were able for the time being to meet the demands of the market. The leading authorities on railway building maintain that the present industrial and agricultural growth of Russia requires the building of at.

least 5,000 versts (3,300 miles) of new

railways within the European provinces per annum, and that if the building of new railways is not proceeded with more expeditionsly the Mining Administration's mines, for the growth of the country will be stunted and an economic crisis brought about, 52,811.43 tons and the sales during the Among other causes, the delay in new railway building is generally attributed to the necessity of pre' liminary study and and approval of all proposed lines by the Department of Railways. The small proportion of private application granted to build new lines is calculated to discouragprivate initiative, although there is no lack of scope for profitable 2.30 p.m. Auction of Furniture &c., at railway building. Without mentioning Siberia, it may be stated that within European Russia there are enormous regions that are utterly devoid of means of communication. In this category my be included practically the whole of Northern Russia. Up-to the present time this territory, exceeding in size the whole of the German Empire, has only one railway—a narrow gauge line from Archangel to Vologda-andin consequence the wealth of timber and minerals in this region is still virtually untouched. The Committee of New Railways has recently considered three proposals to remedy this deficiency. The most important one provides for the construction of a which has been for some time in course hours; and only 0.740 inch of rain fell. Ural-White Sea line from Nadezhdinsk northward along the eastern more than ever is slopes of the Ural, the main line then being heard of new railway projects crossing the mountain chain, while a branch line is laid eastward to the Ob. connecting the whole of the river hand in what is taking place in the systems of Eastern Siberia, including reutes for the guidence of strangers. Lake Baikal, with the White Sea. the Ural-White Sea line would reduce freights to and from Siberia; it would stimulate the opening of the Ukhta oilfields, and bring life to the enormously wealthy region of the Northern Ural by affording means for the export of timber and minerals and the import of coal and machinery. Another projected railway is called the Kama-Peichora line. It proceeds from Usolsk northward to Troitsk. The third proposal contemplates the link- Sun, the plaintiff will be compelled to ing together of Kotlas and Archangel. By this means rail transport to the White Sea from Siberia would be 200 miles shor er than to the Baltic. There is also a fourth scheme, which les for its object the connexion of Obdorsk on the Ob with Medynsk on the Arctic Ocean, in order to avoid the uncertainties of the Kara Sea route. STUPIDITY OF KISSING.

Woman Doctor's Warnings to Extravag ncies of dress, "that utterly stupid custom of kissing," and what may views expressed in various quarters, and be described as the "influenza tea." were strongly condemned by Dr. Mary Scharlieb the course of a lecture on "Woman's Physical Energy-Her Health and How Maintain It," given last month at the Institute of Hygiene, London.

The largest number of colds, said Dr. Scharlieb, were caught from kissing, and women were the worst offenders. Their carelessness in this and other respects was often resp naible for the apread of influenza. which many of them persisted in regarding from influenza would light-heartedly invite their friends to go to tea with them and cheer them up. If only influenza had been endowed with a nice rash, it was suggested, these invitations would be less frequent and the disease less common. In general the health of body depended on three things : integrity of structure. regularity of function, and spitability of environment. The first de pended on inheritance, and it was pointed out as a curious fact that more attention was given to the breeding of a pedigree colt or special varieties of dogs and cate than to the human beings of the future. Hindrances to the preservation of health furnished a text from which to preach on the follies of women who, through likes to dabble in physic ". But the habit anti-pyrine, alcohol, and medicated wines. were things which every woman who valued her health should learn to avoid.

Food, dress, and exercise were important term of primary solools, since, where all, demned. So took were hight dresses. high heeled shoes and flimsy. blouses for women who work. JIPANESE FINANCE.

Statement by the Financial Commissioner.

Mr. Kengo Mori, Japanese Financial Commissioner, in Europe, who recently returned to London after several months' with Reuter's representative the present state of Japanesi fluance, Mr. Mor

The present financial strength of Japan is due to two factors; first, a surplus of £9,400,000 in the accounts for the year 1912:13, and second, the economies brought about by the administrative reform of the present Cabinet in the actual operation of the Budget for this year. Of the surplus above mentioned a sum of £3,400,000 has been already set aside for supple. mentary items of the Budget for the present year, thus leaving a balance of £6,000,000 available for the financial year Reorganization of Salt Gabelle 30,0 0,000 1914-15. The existence of this surplus is to be attributed to the lourely natural increase in revenue brought about by the g neral prosperity of the country.

REDUCTION OF MIX MILLIONS IN EXPENDITURE.

The administrative reforms have already effected a reduction of £8,600,000 in expenditure, the greater portion of which will be of a permanent nature. In this case we have an actual saving of £3,960,000. available for this year. The result of all this saving is that at the end of the year the Government will have a free balance of £7,500,000 available for next year's budget. Bey nd this, however, our administrative reform scheme will effect saving of £4,300,000 for 1914-15. reserve for next year will be £1,200,000. Thus the M nister of Finance will have a framing his new budget. The details of this budget have not yet been settled. but it is certain that the Sinking Fand, £1.000,000 of which goes to foreign bondholders, will be maintained I may add that the second purchase of Four and a Half per Cent. bonds for this ear will be made next month. TRADE STEADILY INCREASING.

Turning to Japanese trade, the Finance Commissioner referred to the pessimistic said :- There is no ground for pessimism. as everything shows that trade and general prosperity are steadily increasing. The rice crop has been good ; it has been an to excellent year for the silk industry, and there has been a big increase in the tonnage of freights of the railways. The tonnage of ships, too, in a period of eight months. has shown a greater increase than in any previous twelve months. There is an enormous increase in the volume of foreign trade. Though the exceen of the import over the export for the year will not be much less than that of last year, it should as a minor ailment. Women suffering to noted that by far the greatest portion of the imp of is raw material and machinery. The export to China has been steadily growing, and the increase of this year up to September is by 10 per cent; The one unatisfactory feature of the financial situation is the high-rate of interest and low prices of securities prevailing during the latter part of this year. But this is chiefly owing to the present stare of the money market all over the world, and partly to the great industrial activity, calling for Increased capital, during, he previous year. At the world's money market now seems to have been all its worst I see no reason why Japan should not expect better times with

A PLUCKY SERVANT GIRL

CAPTURES A THIEF.

Considerable pluck was shown servant girl employed by Mr. P. K. Kwok, of 7, Arbuthnot Road yesterday in dealing with a thiof who entered her master's house while the family was at tiffin. The thief, an ex-lukning of rather forbidding aspect, by climbing a party wall, reached the verandah where a mincoat belonging Mr. Kwok at racted his actice. Mrs. Kwok saw the thief and immediately blew a police whistle, whereupon the ex-guardian of the law dropped the coat and made off, closely followed by the servant. She overtook him on the stairs pluckily seized him and held on until the arrival of Chinese constable 226, who took the thief to the Central Police Station, which is quite mar: The plucky servant girl in the police Court this morning told her story of the capture as if catching burglars was but a trifling incident in her daily round, her unconcorned demession bringing an expression of Valencia Raisins, Mr. Hollwey was taken to hos- her captive to three months' imprisonment

> WIRELESS "EYE" TO SEE BY NIGHT.

A wireless "eye," which will enable navigators to survey the ocean within a radius of several miles, even on the durkest night, is promised by Mr. 8 Spitz, a San Francisco inventor, who is conducting exhaustive experiments at Vallojo, Califòrnia.

The instrument, which works only at night, says the New York correspondent of the "Notts Guardian," reflects on a mirror at moving picture of everything within a certain radius, and the inventor claims that a ship equipped with his device need never fear collisions, shoals, ice-bergs, or similar dangers.

The picture is reflected on to the mirror by what the inventor calls "Stygian ! nya" projected from a web of wires erected on a tall most.

Do You Wish to Improve Your Complexion, Hands or Hair?

If you wish a skin clear of pimples, blackheads and other annoying cruptions, hands soft and, white, hair live and glossy, and scalp free from dandruff and itching, begin today the regular use of Cuticura Soap for the toilet, bath and shampoo, assisted by an occasional light application of Cuticura Ointment. No other method is so agreeable, so often effective and so economical in treating poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair. Cuticura Soap and Ointment have been sold throughout the world for more than a generation, but you can try them without cost.
